Thermochemistry is the study of the heat energy associated with chemical reactions and/or physical transformations. A reaction may release or absorb energy, and a phase change may do the same, such as in melting and boiling. Thermochemistry focuses on these energy changes, particularly on the system's energy exchange with its surroundings. ...

Atoms. The multiplicity is often equal to the number of possible orientations of the total spin relative to the total orbital angular momentum L , and therefore to the number of near-degenerate levels that differ only in their spin-orbit interaction energy.. For example, the ground state of the carbon atom is a $3P$ state. The superscript three (read as triplet) indicates that the ...

En química, existe un equilibrio dinámico una vez que una reacción reversible deja de cambiar su relación de reactivos/productos, pero las sustancias se mueven entre los químicos a una tasa igual, lo que significa que no hay cambio neto. Es un ejemplo particular de un sistema en estado estable. En termodinámica, un sistema cerrado está en equilibrio termodinámico cuando las reacciones ...
